included in this List, are exhausted for this season.

Our patrons will oblige us by using the Special Order
Sheet that accompanies this List.

PEACHES.

The demand for Peaches has been extremely heavy, and we have refused many large wholesale orders in order to keep our stock intact for our retail trade, and we are, therefore, still able to supply nearly all varieties, as per following list. Our South Florida friends will note that they can still procure varieties adapted to that section, such as Angel, Honey, Imperial, Jewel, Waldo, etc.

Our Peach trees are remarkably fine this year, and are still in good condition for planting. We have not yet planted a single tree of the several acres we shall set out this spring.

Oranges, Pomelos and Lemons.

The full effect of the recent unprecedented cold in this section remains to be determined, but in the meantime we are refusing orders for all Citrus trees for this Spring's planting. We expect to have a fine lot of all varieties of Citrus trees for Summer planting, and possibly some Satsumas may be in condition sooner. The thermometer went down to eight degrees above zero here, which was a pretty severe test. We shall be glad to give mere definite information upon application.

ROSES.

We grow large numbers of these, and our strong open ground plants are much better adapted to the South than are the forced hot-house plants of the North. Many of the Tea Roses grow much better when grafted on stronger growing sorts, and such varieties we graft.

QUALITY OF STOCK.

Our soil and natural conditions are exceptionally favorable to the growth of fine stock, which receives painstaking care, and is marked, graded and packed under a system which secures accuracy. Our reputation has been built upon the high standard of quality in the stock sent out, and patrons can depend upon receiving vigorous, healthy, well-grown, well-rooted specimens, true to name, and free from all injurious insects and fungous diseases.

Certificates of Inspection, from the proper authority, accompanies each shipment.

PACKING.

The stock is boxed or baled, whichever best meets the requirements of the shipment, and is packed in the best possible manner. This insures safe carriage for long distances, and in case of unexpected delay in transit, purchasers can rest assured that their stock will keep for several weeks without injury. Shipments are annually made to the most distant parts of the United States, Mexico, Central America and the West Indies and invariably arrive in good condition.

 Before ordering read “Notice to Customers” on page 8.

TO CUSTOMERS

APPLYING PRICES—Five, fifty and five hundred trees at ten, hundred or thousand rates, respectively, purchaser's selection from varieties to which prices apply. For instance, five or more peaches in one or more varieties would come at the ten rate; fifty or more peaches in one or more varieties would come at the hundred rate, and five hundred or more at the thousand rate.

IN ORDERING—Please use the order sheet that accompanies this list, or if ordering a second time (after order sheet has been used) make reference to this "Spring of 1899 List,"

IMPORTANT—At this season, particular sizes and varieties may run out at any time. In ordering please indicate what substitution may be made in this case, or, better still, leave this to us. Where substitution is not permissible, patrons should state this distinctly. In such cases we will fill such part of the order as we can furnish and promptly return the balance of the money sent.

SOME VARIETIES AND SIZES for which we have been refusing orders will be found listed. This happens from an occasional countermand throwing back into our regular stock varieties that were considered sold.

THE SEASON—Frequent rains all over the South for the past few months have made the handling of trees an easy matter this winter as regards moisture. With the ground in good condition in this respect planting can be done much later than during the dry Springs that sometimes prevail. The recent severe cold spell has also checked growth and will prolong the planting season.

THE STOCK listed is of unusually high quality and is in prime condition. Everything that has been hurt by the cold has been omitted, and our customers need have no fear in ordering anything named in this Special list.

THE PRICES herein named are low for high grade stock. The universal effect of severe freezes is to increase the demand for hardy deciduous trees, but our prices remain the same as heretofore.

FREIGHT PREPAID to all points in the Gulf States on all Cash-in-advance orders of $5.00 and upward figured at prices herein named.

THE TIME to order for this season's planting is now.

Extra catalogues, price lists or order sheets free on application.
